

THE ROYAL SOCIETY

1750

Whilst we venerate the Ancients for their wisdom in the practice of the art of chirurgica, we have not accepted uncritically all their revelations but indeed have advanced the understanding and practice of the art in our own time.

The ancients were correct in broad terms of their understanding of disease...

However, we have now a clearer understanding of ...